“ I am deeply sorry to learn that Bernyce Dvorkin is no longer with us. I met Bea through my mentor Dr. C Duttagupta (Chobi) when both of them were at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine. Bea was in the Department of Biochemistry and Dr. Duttagupta in the Department of OB/GYN, where I joined as a Post Doctoral Fellow. When Bea retired and went to Deptford after her retirement, Chobi and I visited her many times and had enjoyed her home cooked meals. I still remember, it was at her place that I first enjoyed a bowl of Turkey Hill lemon sorbet. In later years Bea used to take us out to a quaint little restaurant in her neighborhood. At her place, I used to listen with awe the lab events that both Bea and Chobi shared of their past. Each time when we left after visiting her at Deptford, she used to drive in her car ahead of us to make sure that we got onto I-95 safely.

Learning that Bea is no longer with us, for the past few days, I was re reading her mails that she had sent me over the years. Whenever I published a manuscript or attended any conference, I used to let her know and then eagerly wait for her mail. Her words of encouragement were very inspirational for me. For the last couple of years Bea had requested us not to visit her, however, she always sent beautiful cards with her hand-written notes during the summer and at Christmas time. I love you Bea and I will deeply miss you..

Since we did not see you Bea in the last couple of years, it doesn't seem that you are no longer there. I will miss visiting you at Deptford but your letters over the years will keep your voice alive within me.

Lovingly,
Jita Basu

“ I offer my heartfelt condolences to the family of Bernyce Dvorkin .
Bea has been my friend since 1973. I joined Dr Maynard Mackman's lab at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine and met Bea for the first time. Bea became a friend and also a philosophical 'guide' to several of us and remained so till the recent years. I returned to India in 1985 and have been living in Kolkata since then. But Bea & I were in constant touch.
I visited her several times whenever I went to the US . It was only recently that I couldn't contact her.
Bea has always been a Friend and shall remain so. I love you Bea.
May her Soul be rest in peace.

“ When I arrived at Albert Einstein College of Medicine in 1964, as a new faculty member of the Departments of Biochemistry and Molecular Pharmacology, Bea Dvorkin was already there as an accomplished and dedicated Laboratory Technician. I had the good fortune to have her help me get started and to then to manage my research laboratory. She worked with me for more than thirty years, until she retired. She was a mentor to many of my graduate students and postdocs. And more than that, she took under her wing so to speak many many more young students and faculty in Biochemistry. She was a close friend of my wife and daughters. We all were very found of her. She was an important person in our lives.

“ Ms Dvorkin was our neighbor and friend on Davis St while growing up. She was a kind and friendly woman who always took time to say hi. She will be remembered by the Carey family.

“ My aunt Bea was an interesting woman .As bright as she was,she never trusted that she was loved and caused an estrangement that lasted too many years. I am grateful to have had some time at the end of her life to get re-aquainted and share feelings as two adults.She always had a dry sense of humor and appreciated an enlightened companion.
I hope that she got a lot more joy out of life than she allowed me to see..
Whether she knew it or not, she is missed,,,

“ Bea was my neighbor for many years in Woodbury. When she moved to Deptford my family and I continued to visit regularly. She enjoyed watching my children grow and start their adult lives. We shared a love of travel, good food, gardening, and in recent years visiting with my dog as well. She will be greatly missed and we will treasure our years of friendship.
