“ When I 1st found out, I wanted to scream... then I thought I saw you today Col, driving by and I didn't know what to say,,, I almost collapsed fully.... yet raised myself up and started smelling the most delicious BarBeQue. I was always trying to connive an invite (((S))) . Remembering how he made the back yard look like club med and all the fun parties you guys had, even your wedding. So sorry for your loss, please hug Crystal for me. When I smell BBQ I'll think of him.

“ Chalie is my ex-wife Colleen's husband and my daughter Crystal's step-father. I have come to refer to Chalie as my husband in law, simply because I have considered him family for almost twenty years. I have also thanked God literally every day for bringing Chal into our lives from the instant I realized how deeply he loved Colleen and Crystal. My heart aches and I am trying to understand why this has happened. I am angry and sad and confused. I will continue to thank God every day because what Chalie has given Colleen and Crystal will stay with them and guide them for the rest of their lives. I love you Chal. I am eternally grateful to you. I miss you so much. Thank you.

“ From the moment I met Charlie 30+ years ago- I liked him. Even if I did wonder "who is this kid in my dairy box". His laugh,his upbeat attitude and cocked baseball hat made me feel like I found an excellent " box mate" I am sure countless others have felt the same good Charlie vibe. Our professional paths crossed many times during those years. We used the confines of our box to vent frustrations, offer advice or just laugh about the crazy business we had chosen. He was a trusted friend. After leaving the company 10 years ago it was harder to stay in touch but those bonds of friendship remained despite being caught up in our own lives and raising our families. Charlie made people smile and that is why today is such a sad day. We all lost a great friend and someone that made the world a better place. God bless Charlie.

“ Charlie, when we roll back the time in our mind and reminisce of our history it makes us smile, especially our old “Woodbury” days and opening so many Shop Rite stores together. You were always a loving husband; loyal friend and dedicated manager. Your sense of humor and good nature always brought the best out in people. Your smile could brighten a room and your laughter was contagious. Our greatest pleasure was to know you and our greatest regret that you are gone from us much too soon. We wish you God Speed and send our deepest heartfelt sympathy to Colleen, your children and your family. Love Chippy and Brian

“ Dear McGonigle family:
I wish to convey my sincerest condolences to your entire family. Losing a loved one in death is one of the hardest things that anyone will ever have to deal with. There is a great hope held out to us for the future because God promises to bring those we lost back to life by means of a resurrection to a paradise earth, where sickness and death will be no more. I hope this brief message will bring you a measure of comfort in this difficult time.
