“ As someone who grew up in the 1950s and 60s, I frequently reflect how lucky those of us born to those of "the greatest generation" were to have such great parents and role models. I often marvel at how wonderful my childhood was, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierson are two of the people I will always fondly remember from my youth. There were countless days and nights playing basketball on their tennis/basketball court--some nights I was out there by myself, other nights 30 teenagers from four or five towns might be out there--always welcomed by the Piersons. Great times in North Wildwood, playing tennis, and just shooting hoops are among the many memories I have of Mr. Pierson. I will always remember him as a man who cared about kids---constantly willing to give his time and effort to make their childhood better. I'll always think of him just as I thought of him as a teenager in the 1960s---a really nice guy! My sincerest sympathy to his family--may your many wonderful memories of Mr. Pierson, in time, help ease the sorrow.
Sincere regards, Bryant Heisinger
