“ I am saddened to hear about Fran's passing. My heartfelt sympathies to her family. She was one of the friendliest people at Brightview. Fran quickly made friends with my mom and helped my mom acclimate to her new home. I already miss her quick smile and wave of her hand in the dining room. May she be in peace.

“ To the family of Mrs. Frances M. Merz

Blessed be God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of tender mercies and the God of all comfort. (2 Corinthians 1:3) Much of what we hold dear seems ever at risk, however, nothing will hit us as hard as the death of someone we love. The feelings of loss and powerlessness can be overwhelming. Grief is such a sweeping feeling it removes the familiar, leaving the grieving alone. It's not something to "just" get over by desiring it so. It is an emotion that changes surrounding circumstances, it lingers and the healing process seems never ending. The sorrow death brings us we never get over but at some point we get accustom to it and we learn to accept the change. The Bible tells us to throw our burdens upon him "and he himself will sustain us. (Psalms 55:22) God provides comfort abundantly through friends and family. I pray such ones surround you. How comforting it is to know about God's restorative power (Acts 3:21, Revelation 21:4) and by means of the resurrection God can reunite us with our loved ones. What a loving promise found at (John 5:28, 29). Until that time seek comfort from the Scriptures and may God grant you "the power beyond what is normal" to sustain you and your family at this most difficult time. (2Corinthians 4:7) Please read all the cited Scriptures and truly benefit from their promises.
