“ I just found out yesterday of Jenn's passing. I met her in our cancer support group and the first time I met her, I thought how beautiful she was. Then I got to know her through our group. Inner beauty was there also. So very sweet and kind and always upbeat even through all that she has been through. I will miss her. We were blessed to have her in our group.

“ I am the oncology social worker for the Kennedy Cancer Center, where Jennifer was treated. Words cannot express my sorrow. Jennifer was a beautiful and special person. She added grace and strength to our breast cancer support group. We will truly miss her kind and loving presence. I wish to express my deepest and most heart-felt condolences to Dr. Lowry, the children and Jennifer's extended family and friends. We lost a beautiful person here on earth, but Heaven gained an angel.

“ Sr. Lowry & FAMILY We are so sorry for your loss. She was loved by so many people, and although we did not know her personally, we do know you--you take such wonderful care of us (as your patients) and we appreciate that. Obviously you two had a lot in common with helping and caring for people. Love Bob & Dotty Ormsby

“ To the Lowry, Decker, Gillespie, Cusack, my deepest sympathy and my prayers for all of you. Jennifer had a fantastic sense of humor even in her sickest moments she could laugh with you. I will miss her and remember always there is another side of every story. A lesson she taught me.

“ There are only a few who make it to the BEST list and Jenny was one at the top...best daughter, sister, wife, mom, niece, cousin, friend...and this just begins the list. You took care of your family for 17 years...you can now rest knowing that all who loved you will care for them. Enjoy your peace and please watch over us. Xxoo

“ Steve,I am heartbroken to hear of Jennifer's passing. From the first time I met her, Christmas Eve many years ago, I immediately knew what a caring,sensitive,thoughtful and fun loving person she was.Always thinking of others. I am praying that you feel God's presence and his love will embrace you and will help you and all your family at this time.
