“ "An Empty Space"

The loss of a parent is hard to bear For want of their presence, their love and care.

It's hard to accept we won't have them here To celebrate holidays, birthday cheer.

We expect to see them walk in the door Like so many times in the days of yore.

Just to hear their voice on the telephone Would help us to know that we're not alone.

We will never again say 'Mom' or 'Dad' To that one who loved us here, good or bad.

An empty space will be left in the heart Till in Glory we meet, never to part.
