Julian was a great friend to Ginger and me. He was also "Daddy " to Beverly. He gave her anything she wanted from the food off of his plate to the sock off his foot! He and Emily Mccorkle , his wife, took care of Bev for weeks while I was selling the house- and kept her even after she was skunked! Julian and Emily even let me bring Ginger to their home for Christmas! I will miss Julian, who was always so kind to my dogs and me- always offering to help and always including us. But he is with God in heaven- he believed in his heart that Jesus is his Lord and that He rose from the dead. And he repented of his sins. So, enjoy heaven dear friend until we meet again at the feet of Jesus! ❤️ + ❤️

“ Sorry that I wasn't able to upload a picture of Julian holding a sombrero hat on Beverly, my dog to whom he was "Daddy". He gave her anything she wanted including the sock of his foot! He and Emily were beyond good to her and to me as they kept her while I was selling my house. They were also the only home to which I could bring Ginger for Christmas. The more I got to know Julian, the better friends we became. He was a kind soul, always willing to help. Beverly and I both will miss him terribly. Most importantly, Julian believed in his heart and confessed with his mouth that Jesus was his Lord and Savior and that he knew that he rose from the dead. He repented of his sins and like all of us sometimes fell, but I know that God now has him in the palm of His hand, where there is no more pain or suffering. Until we meet again dear friend-

*“ I was blessed to have Buck as my cousin and even hearing my mom tell me stories about him before I was born. He had a larger than life character and he will be deeply missed. Rest easy my cousin, I'm lucky I got to say I love you one more time.
