“ Peter was a most likable character and a talented impresario for many years operating the County’s premier restaurant and watering hole, The Tall Pines Inn and Golf Club. It was the place where movers and shakers of business and politics could often be seen stopping by evenings for a bite to eat or a drink before or after (sometimes both) their evening meetings. Pete made a habit of extending warm greetings to his guests and stopping by tables to insure all was satisfactory. He was a talented deal maker and innovative real estate developer who always had a keen eye focused on opportunities well ahead of the rest of us. Despite many challenges in life Pete was an optimistic realist and always searched for the positive aspect of situations and solutions. Though his presence had been limited in recent years, we’re fortunate that Pete’s memory remains fondly with the most all who knew him.
