“ Our Sincerest Condolences 🕊️
Uncle Rick will truly be missed. I have fond childhood memories based on his Shenanigans that will always bring a smile to my face even now. A truly one of a kind personality he had.

God, I know Rick and Sharon didn't raise weak kids, but during this trying time please shower them with strength and love. Amen!

“ Richard is my father n law, and I couldn't be more proud to call him dad. He would always ask where's Jessi (lol) he's the only one that would call me that. Even in his contacts I'm Jessi. He was an eagles fan just like my daddy was and I'm a Dallas fan and oh boy did we have some back and forth on that as he would always say "Jessi the cowgirls are gonna lose" he loved for some reason to give me wine, he was always trying (didn't need to try to hard) to pour me a glass of wine and even send me home with a bottle or 2. Now his whisky, was Crown Royal, which was my dad's whisky as well and of course any family function we had at his home we would have a shot of Crown Royal. In a lot of ways Rick, reminded me of my own father and I am proud to have been his daughter n law. I'm so happy he was able to come to Steve (his son) and mines wedding, since my daddy passed, it was nice to have him there and I know he was so proud of his son that day and seeing him get married. Not to many know this but whenever I would see Rick, he would always ask me how I'm doing since my dad and mom passed, he would tell me they are at peace now. So, I know he is as well at peace. I will miss him dearly, I will miss his hugs he gave me, him saying "Jessi I need help on my computer" lol. Love you Rick.
