“ In 1988, Dad underwent heart surgery. Seven bypasses were performed so I am thankful to God that he was given another 20 years. He saw the number of his grandchildren grow from six to twelve during those years. He witnessed four of them get married and now has four great-grandchildren. I am also thankful that nearly every Saturday of his last eight months here, Dad was able to work with his sons, son-in-law and grandchildren building a house for grandson Bobby and his wife Kerri. The house is now finished and one of his final touches was on the window and door trim. Looks real good. Thanks Dad!

“POPS- YOOOOO punk! I am going to miss so many things about you. I'll miss ringing your doorbell and covering the peep-hole so you don't know it's me behind the door. I'll miss when you would tickle me till I could barely breathe. I'll miss riding with you and gram in the car and listening to you get a rise out of gram just to make me laugh. I'll miss coming into to your room, hopping on your lap and watching the baseball games with you. I'll forever miss your sneaky laugh when you're up to no good. I'll miss getting into trouble with you. I'll miss coming outside to find you there weeding or doing some other task for my mom. I'll even miss you at dinner when you're not there to poke me with your fork or put your hot spoon on my hand. I could go on forever about the things I would miss about my pops. I'm so glad I was fortunate enough to have a grandfather as amazing as him and great cousins to share memories of him with. I wish you were still here, I love you so much pops.

“Dad, I'll always remember you standing on the hassock looking for the great pink whale so many years ago and the spark plug joke you played on me. I will never forget your laugh and smile and the tons of good times we had together. I thank God for every minute I had with you and that my children got to know and LOVE their Pops before He took you home. I will always remember when you would help me spackle, paint, hang wallpaper or weed my many flower gardens. The times you helped us redecorate, hanging new trim,shutters and all those many other jobs we had for you. You would always tease me by saying "I'm glad I only have one daughter." I of course would reply "So am I because then I would have to share you." I loved the way it didn't matter that I was married or how old I became, I was still Daddy's Little Girl. I will never forget the many things we did together, the countless hours we spent doing those jigsaw puzzles, and the times you would just drop by to spend time with me. I look forward to the day we meet again. I love you now and forever. You will always be in my heart. I miss you so much.

“My favorite memories of Pops would have to be his mischevious laugh, how he always had the look of "trouble" on his face. How whenever my dad would start a new project, he was there to help. His faithful attendance at my brothers' wrestling games. His fresh-caught fish dinners on Labor Day. His weakness for sweets. And of course, the way he would tease Grandmom just to make his grandkids laugh. I will never forget you, Pops, and I miss you so much!

“ Pops...we will miss you very much. Your chuckle(which I still wonder what you were thinking behind it all), the way you eat your powdered donuts during 'break' time, leaving tootsie roll wrappers on the trail so you'd 'find your way back'. Or the way you'd tap me on the shoulder and turn your head acting like it wasn't you! But most of all the way you like to get a rise out of grams. Like when you threw poppers at her off the top porch in wildwood. I still don't think she realized you were throwing them at her. Not only were you a good grandfather you were also a good father. I know this by looking at my father. He has the same meek and mild spirit that you have. Always ready to give a helping hand when someone needs it. Help building houses for family. You did a good job! You will always be in our hearts. We love you POPS!!

“ When my father died over 21 years ago, I felt bad for my children that they had only one grandpop left at such young ages. But my father-in-law, Pops, filled in the gap, for he had enough love for his grandkids for two grandfathers. He was always ready to help us with his wonderful and diverse carpentry skills whenever we needed him and there was always someone in the family who needed him! We are thankful to God for his life and quiet presence. He was a blessing to us and we will miss him greatly.

“ POP POP, Words can describe how much I miss you. I miss your smile, laugh, the way your eyes light up when you were up to no good, and I miss the way you said "YO!" when I walked into the room. They say that a girl's first love is her father, but what you don't hear is her grandfather is her second love, and thats what you were, my second love. I have many happy memories, that even through the sadness I can smile and laugh. I will remember spending the weekends at your house and at breakfast you told me the story of the monkey and baboon and chicken and the car. I thought you were sooo funny, so when I told my mom I had no idea why I had to get my mouth washed out with soap! I remember how you would smile and laugh when gram would yell at you, and you would keep antagonizing her, or when you took seconds on desert. I remember the way you would listen to me talk, even when I didn't have anything important to say. I remember the time you gave Snoops his first table scraps...and we all know how that ended, so take care of our buddy when he gets there. But most of all, I will always remember how blessed I am to have a "Pops" like you. You keep telling God to let it rain. I miss you Pop, and I love you.

“ Dear Pierson family, Please accept my sincerest condolences on the passing of Bob. They say childhood provides us with our happiest memories, and I have many happy memories from my early teenage years of playing hoops with "the old guys," Bob and Charlie; or skiing down the shore, or hitting the tennis ball around. But far more important was the great example Bob set as a person. I have only good memories of him--a fair, kind and nice man. It was a pleasure to know the Pierson family because they were the type of family everyone should have as friends! Although I haven't seen Bob in some time, it was obvious he was proud of and loved the wonderful family that Gladys and he raised and saw grow over the years. Although this is time of sadness, I am certain every family member will, in time, realize that their fond memories of Bob will help them through this difficult time and keep his memory in their hearts forever!
