“ Joanne and Brad: I am sorry to hear about the passing of your mother Joanne, and Laura's grandmother. Jesus said that He has prepared a place for us and that He will come again. Your mother is now in the arms of God. No more sickness, no more pain, no more worry. She is a new creation in Christ.
I pray Joanne that you and the entire family will get comfort, knowing that she is now home with the Lord, safe in His arms forever and ever. My prayer is that God will give you and the entire family the strength you need to carry on each and every day.
God bless you all.

“ *To Rose's Daughters,
From the day she entered the Health Care Center and she greeted me with a big smile, I knew at that moment she would mean so much to me. In the months to come she became a mother to me as my own mother lived in RI and I didn't see her as much as I would have liked. She would come on her own to my office in the beginning and we'd share stories. One of her favorite games with me was "Name That Tune". I would play a few notes and she'd name the tune. Many people thought I provided her with the answers but I understood her speech and waited patiently for the reply as I did with my own Mom who suffers from Parkinson's Disease. I loved Rose very much and will pray for the repose of her soul.*

“ Chris, Alan and I just finished viewing your mothers memorial and I must say it was very moving. I cried during the whole thing. What a beautiful tribute to her and your whole family. Its strange to watch a whole life in pictures and imagine her world and yours. A life lived and now a memory to embrace and hold close to your heart. May you continue to find peace and know that you and your family are being watched by your own special angel..your mom. We love you and thank you for sharing these memories with us. Love cindy and alan
